ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Tamil was established in the Faculty of Science and Humanities, in SRM University in the year 2003 along with other departments which were founded and established in the same year. As part of the regulations Tamil language is one of the languages to be opted and studied by the students of science and humanities as an optional languages and this requirement is fulfilled by the department of Tamil.

The Department of Tamil apart from part II language course also offers language and literature related subjects to the non-major elective students. These students are given the choice to study Tamil language and literature as an elective subject in their second year. The department is also a recognized research department and there are three potential doctorates and research supervisor working in the department.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Tamizh Aavai

The Department of Tamil through its Tamil Aavai organizes a fortnightly meeting with the students and faculty members who are part of this club. The meet is organized under the banner of KAVIMAALAI. In the Kavimaalai, students and faculty members present their poetic creations. Two students, Naren Kumar of Visual Communications and Kabilan Veluchamy of Journalism & Mass Communications have published their Tamil poetry books with the guidance of the Tamil literary forum- kavimaalai.

Apart from giving a professional touch and expertise to their writing skills, they are developed in presenting themselves in medias as well. Few of the students have even got employed in certain private television channels.
