Objective of the Event:

The event aimed to illuminate the diverse pathways available for first-year students in foreign education, particularly in computer science, while also highlighting essential considerations for their journey. Additionally, it featured a showcase of the extracurricular talents of first-year students, celebrating their creativity and skills.

Brief Description about the Event:

The event "Trailblazer," organized by the Inferno Club of the Department of Computer Science, took place to guide first-year students on various pathways for foreign education, particularly in computer science. Dr. Anupama C.G., the Assistant Director of Computational Intelligence at the Faculty of Engineering & Technology, SMRIST, Kattankulathur, served as the chief guest and delivered an informative workshop. She emphasized essential considerations for students embarking on their academic journeys abroad. Following the workshop, the event showcased the extracurricular talents of first-year students, featuring performances in dancing, singing, and musical instruments. The event successfully combined educational insights with artistic expression, fostering a vibrant community spirit among the students.
