Workshop on Nature of Intellectual Property Rights- R.K.Dewan & Co. Team

DATE : 09/04/2013

VENUE:EEE Dept Seminar Hall

The workshop was about how IPR can be assigned, gifted, sold and licensed like any other property. Unlike other moveable and immovable properties, these rights can be simultaneously held in many countries at the same time. IPR can be held only by legal entities i.e., who have the right to sell and purchase property. In other words an institution, which is not autonomous may not in a position to own an intellectual property. These rights especially, patents, copyrights, industrial designs, IC layout design and trade secrets are associated with something new or original and therefore, what is known in public domain cannot be protected through the rights mentioned above. The R.K.Dewan team listed the improvements and modifications made over known things can be protected. It would however, be possible to utilize geographical indications for protecting some agriculture and traditional products. .
